

DELIVERY HEALTH

Giovanni Di Domenico

Jim O'Rourke

Tatsuhisa Yamamoto

Delivery Health is the highly idiosyncratic trio of Giovanni Di Domenico, Jim O'Rourke and Tatsuhisa Yamamoto.

The recording was done in Tokyo's great GOK Sound, directly on 24 tracks tape recorder, and was mixed at Steamroom, Tokyo, by Jim O'Rourke himself.

The blend of early 70's ECM drum sound, long unfolding travelogues and the great transparency of the mix, give to this record a breadth and deepness that will give hard times categorizing it's music, where jazz (the one of Abercrombie's Gateway and , again, early ECM...), electronic drones (the lesson Tony Conrad had to give) and the most organic of rock sound (especially in the person of drummer Tatsuhisa Yamamoto's tightness and openness at the same time) fuse in a very special way.
